

UPPSALA
UNIVERSITET

Genderinfo

Newsletter November 2017

NEWS

2017-11-05

Karin S. Lindelöf and Annie Woube recently published a new article Tjejhelg, umgänge – och ett lopp. Tjejlopp som en modern husmorssemester. Which has led to several interviews in media. Read more about their research and some of their interviews here:

www.gender.uu.se/news/?tarContentId=647742

2017-11-15

Every year on November 15 imprisoned writers in the world are acknowledged through Imprisoned Writers Day. This year the Centre's course administrator AnnaKarin Kriström contributed with an artwork of her own, "Dancing cranes – for the freedom of words and imprisoned writers". It hung in the exhibition hall of Uppsala Public Library. Read more about Imprisoned Writers Day and see the pictures of AnnaKarin's artwork:

www.gender.uu.se/news/?tarContentId=678138

2017-11-30

#metoo and other hashtags linked to sexual harassments and assaults is everywhere on social medias. Anneli Häyrén, researcher at the Centre, has been interviewed several times and has spoken on both TV, radio and other medias. Due to this Uppsala University has also arranged for Anneli to give a lecture on November 30th for students and employees at the University. This lecture will be held in Swedish but we are hoping for an English version this spring. You can read and listen to Anneli in different media via the link below.

www.gender.uu.se/nyheter/?tarContentId=672214

EMPLOYEES

Katerina Günter is the Centre's newest PhD student. Katerina will share her PhD time between the Centre for Gender Research and the Department of Ecology and Genetics. The purpose of Katerina's work is to explore the biology education environment from different angles. Read more about Katerina here:

www.gender.uu.se/nyheter/?tarContentId=678984

Signe Bremer, researcher at the Centre for the past five years and Julia Benjaminson, information officer for the past four years have both moved on to new work opportunities. We wish them both the best of luck!

THURSDAY SEMINARS

The Thursday seminars are over for this year. Thank you to all who have participated. The schedule for next year's seminars will soon be published on our website.

UP COMING EVENTS

2017-12-14

Centrums föreståndare Anita Hussénus, som tidigare i år fick ta emot Uppsala universitets Lika villkorspris, bjuder in dig som är anställd vid Uppsala universitet att se pjäsen Skandal på Humanistiska teatern den 14 december klockan 17.00. Skandal är ett explosivt sång-och-dansdrama om historien kring de kvinnliga nobelpristagarna i fysik, kemi och medicin.

Mer info finns via länken nedan:

www.gender.uu.se/kalendarium/evenemang/?eventId=30708

SKANDAL på Humanistiska teatern

Ett explosivt sång-och-dansdrama om historien kring de kvinnliga nobelpristagarna i fysik, kemi och medicin.

14 december

17.00 - 18.00

Anita Hussénus, mottagare av Uppsala universitets Lika villkorspris, bjuder in dig som är anställd vid Uppsala universitet att se pjäsen Skandal.

Observera begränsat antal platser! Lokalen har cirka 140 platser så kom i god tid.

CENTRE FOR
GENDER RESEARCH

CENTRE FOR
GENDER RESEARCH